

NEAR-ACTOR PLAYS HIS FIRST ROLE IN COURT, AS VILLAIN

Young Mr. McVey Thought
He'd Be Cast as Hero, but Police Said No!

John Morris McVey, who is nineteen years old, and nurses such an ambition to see his name flashing in electric rays from the front of a theatre, that he came all the way from Davenport, Ia., to the New York managerial jungles, played his first public engagement in the Gates avenue court, Brooklyn, to-day. He was charged with having abducted fifteen-year-old Louisa Bowen of No. 137 Broadway, Brooklyn, who spent two days in his "studio" at No. 2 Patches avenue.

When the state-attacked youth came to New York in July to hunt his premier engagement, he was well supplied with funds from the exchequer of his father, a traveling furniture salesman, who makes his headquarters at Davenport. On Thursday, still without the faintest promise of becoming a member of the profession, McVey was standing in front of the Bushwick Theatre, Louisa Bowen came along and she and McVey got acquainted.

"I am an actor," he said. "I'm thinking about getting a good girl for a partner and putting on a sketch." Louisa took his arm and walked around the corner with McVey. That was the last time anyone saw her until Saturday afternoon. Through Friday, the Brooklyn police, to whom Mrs. Bowen had gone when her daughter failed to return home, Thursday night, were on the lookout for Louisa. They had pictures of her, but got no definite clue to her whereabouts until Saturday morning, when Mrs. Bowen received a note from the missing girl.

"Oh, ma, I'm married to an actor," Louisa wrote. "We are going on the road soon. We are going to open in Chicago, dear ma, and we will send you some money from there."

The note had been mailed at Station A, which is at Broadway and Greene avenue, Brooklyn, and detectives were sent to patrol the streets in that locality. Saturday afternoon, Detective De Martini, of the Ralph avenue station, who had a picture of the girl in his pocket, was rolling up Bushwick avenue, when his attention was attracted to a jaunty young man, who was carrying a cane and a young girl companion lightly on his left arm. The girl was Louisa.

"Don't arrest me," protested McVey, when De Martini laid his hand on his shoulder. "Don't do anything you'll be sorry for. I'm a member of a respectable family."

Nevertheless, he went to the police station and Louisa went home to mother.

The older McVey had arrived in time for the hearing to-day and held hopes that matters could be settled amicably out of court. He said John Morris McVey should marry Louisa, and he would not like to do anything else. Louisa was willing, too, but her mother would not quite so soon about the eligibility of John Morris. The by natives examination and was held to the Grand Jury pending arrangements between his father and Mrs. Bowen.

Rich-Quick Man Convicted.

Edward Arden Noblett, of No. 42 West Thirty-fifth street, who, since his release from State prison, three years ago, has been promoting get-rich-quick schemes, was convicted of grand larceny before Judge Mulquharn in the Court of General Sessions to-day. Peter Hulsebosch, of No. 3 Trinity place, accused Noblett of obtaining $500 from him for stock in an iron mine at Thompson, N. J., which Noblett claimed to own, but did not.

Director Model.

Narrow skirts not only make the feet more conspicuous, but—worse yet—make them look larger than they are—unless you wear the right kind of a shoe.

This DIRECTOIRE MODEL carries a high arch and short vamp, which are short—the foot.

Although its lines have the fashion-decreed manliness, yet it is slender, shapely and graceful. The cloth top adds a smart custom touch of daintiness.

Black Smooth Kid Calf Bottom, with Green Top—$4.50. Or you may have DIRECTOIRE in Russia Calf—same price.

ONE MAN IS DROWNED, THREE JUST ESCAPE, WHEN DORY UPSETS

Fishermen Started in Heavy
Sea to Row a Mile to Their Schooner.

Search is being made to-day for the body of Magnus Otterson, who was drowned off Gravesend Bay Yacht Club last night, when a dory in which he, Capt. Henry Peterson, Adolph Hansen and Severin Manque had started for the two-masted fishing schooner Anna Godfred, a mile away, capsized. The other three missed death by a narrow margin. The party, all from the schooner, spent yesterday with their families in Brooklyn.

When they reached the yacht club about 7 o'clock last night the wind had kicked up a heavy sea, and J. F. Johnson, chief steward of the club, warned them against trying to reach their vessel.

Soon after they disappeared in the dory Johnson heard cries for help, and with Capt. Charles Garwood put out in rowboat. They found the dory floating bottom up, with Capt. Peterson astride the keel and Manque and Hansen clinging to the sides. The rescued men did not see Otterson after the boat was overturned, and he evidently sank immediately.

BRINGS HEAVY "WHIP" HERE.

Ernest Dauben, stage director of the Drury Lane Theatre, London, arrived here to-day on the Cunard liner Carnarvon to stage "The Whip," the melodramatic production that has been a sensational hit in London for two years. "The Whip" will be produced at the Manhattan Opera House. There are thirteen scenes, including horse races, train wrecks, and so forth. There will be 400 persons on the stage in some of the scenes. The entire stage set will be brought from abroad.

GAYNOR WANTS TO RAISE SALARY OF HIS SECRETARY.

Tells Board of Estimate the Job Is Worth $1,000 More a Year.

In the Mayor's budget estimate for 1914, which was forwarded to-day to the Board of Estimate, Mr. Gaynor includes a request for an increase of $1,000 a year for his secretary, Robert Adamson. It is expected that Mr. Adamson's duties are now essentially those of a head of department, involving the exercise of judgment and personal ability. His present salary is $500. ## NEW YORK CITY PROOF

Testimony of a Resident of W. 98th Street.

Alexander S. May, 197 W. 98th St., New York City, N. Y., says: "What I said endorsing Doan's Kidney Pills in the statement I gave three years ago holds good at this time. I have never lost my high opinion of this remedy, and occasionally resort to it as a preventive. My kidneys have been in a normal condition ever since I previously used Doan's Kidney Pills."
